

Notice of Rights on Indictment for the Accused and Interested Parties

1. You have received an indictment that the prosecutor filed to the court after having found the accused involved in criminal activities according to the investigation results.
2. Pursuant to the Code of Criminal Procedure: (1) the court will subsequently summon the accused, the complainant, or the victim (as witness) for court appearance. (2) the accused may retain an attorney at any time to protect his/her legal rights.
3. If you are a foreigner or for some reasons do not understand Chinese or cannot effectively express your opinion in Chinese, you may, after receiving a summons from the court, file an application for a translator to assist you.
4. You may visit the Prosecutors Office's website for more information:
<https://www.ulc.moj.gov.tw/10570/>